POLISH PRESS DIGESTS (212 pp; Polish; [REDACTED])

25X1A

[REDACTED]

This document gives brief extracts on a variety of well-selected topics (political, sociological, and economic) from the press in Poland. The press coverage is fairly broad and representative. Occasionally, a periodical like Nowe Drogi is represented. The author, probably a Polish emigre in Germany, adds intelligent, sometimes penetrating, comments of his own. For example, he calls attention to a Trybuna Ludu reprint of Hilary Minc's articles in Pravda in which Minc developed the theme of cooperation between the USSR and the peoples' democracies and commented at some length on jointly owned enterprises. The author believes this may be an attempt to prepare public opinion for the creation of joint Polish-Soviet enterprises in Poland.
